

The Course Leader

The course leader, Mr. Alan Marsh, is an international Tutor on Cambridge ESOL CELTA and DELTA teacher trainer and development courses. He has trained and helped develop teachers from all five continents, and regularly assesses Cambridge CELTA teacher training schemes held by prestigious teaching institutions in various countries. He has worked extensively in Italy and Malta in leading EFL language organisations and is an experienced teacher of children, teachers and adults in both monolingual and multilingual contexts. He is the President of the Malta Association of Teachers of English as a Foreign Language, and is a regular speaker at conferences, seminars and workshops. He is British and is based in Malta, where he has lived since 1993.

English-Course for Teachers of Learners aged 8-12

The seminars and workshops consist of two main strands:

- Practising and developing participants' own English language skills through participation in communicative, interactive language activities.
- Highly practical, engaging and memorable techniques to use with teaching English in the Primary classroom. Techniques focus on developing learners' listening, reading and speaking skills and on enjoyable and memorable ways of approaching grammar and vocabulary for this particular age group.

TIMES of MALTA, November 18th 2009

“The Malta DELTA at IELS is privileged to have two trainers of the highest calibre. The main tutor is Alan Marsh, who is well-known on the local EFL scene as a highly professional, inspirational teacher and teacher-trainer who regularly delivers training courses for experienced teachers all over Europe.”

Julia Pearson, director of studies, IELS (biggest language school of Malta, 800 students)
